What is NDCR?

A PLATFORM FOR SOUND WITHOUT BORDERS.

New Delhi Community Radio is an independent platform spotlighting India's emerging sonic culture while creating a space for artists and communities from around the world to connect with audiences in India.
We spotlight Indian artists, emerging voices and global artists travelling through India, giving them a platform to share their sound, connect with local audiences and become part of the country's evolving music community.

Local Roots. Global Sounds. One Community.

EK SAAL / ONE YEAR OF NDCR

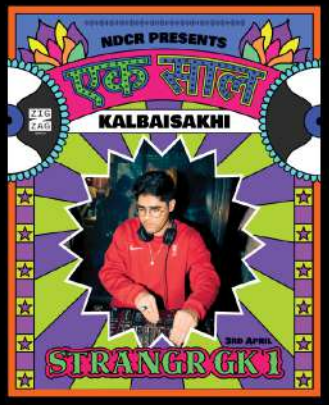

One year of New Delhi Community Radio. One massive celebration.
In April, NDCR celebrated its first anniversary by taking over Basant Lok Market, New Delhi, bringing the community offline for a city-wide celebration of music.

From RADIO to COMMUNITY

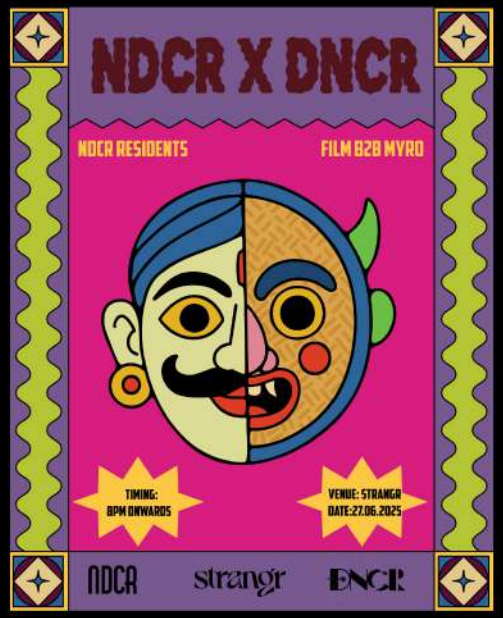

WE DON'T JUST BROADCAST A SCENE.
WE HELP BUILD IT.

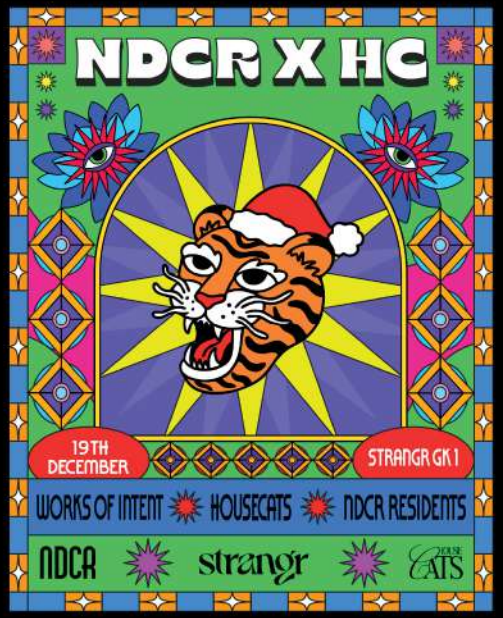

NDCR has evolved from a radio platform into a growing community of artists, listeners, DJs, collectives and cultural collaborators.

From online broadcasts to physical takeovers, collaborations and city-wide events, we create spaces where people can discover music, discover artists and discover each other.

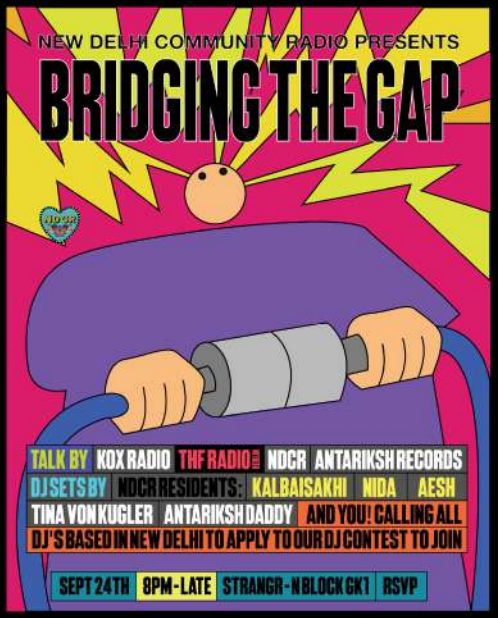

NDCR

We Believe Radio Is Stronger Together.

From our first-ever offline collaboration with Da Nang Community Radio to working with collectives, radio platforms and communities across India and internationally, collaboration has been at the heart of NDCR.
